

1.2.1 Operating Systems

1 A software company decides to build an operating system.

(a) Memory management is one of the functions of an operating system.

(i) List three functions, other than memory management, of an operating system.

[3 marks]

- Provide a user interface
- Manage hardware/peripherals
- Manage CPU / handle interrupts
- Provide security
- Provide a platform to run other software
- Provide utilities for system maintenance

